"To show the very age and body of the times."

Both Houses of Congress on Saturday passed as a compromise, the demand certificate bill, to authorize the issue of five millions of three per cent. certificates instead of one hundred millions, as was proposed. The banks are therefore to be allowed to purchase the certificates at par, giving therefor their compound interest notes at par and interest. These certificates may be held instead of greenbacks to the extent of two-fifths of their reserve. The banks are to be allowed to receive interest on their deposits in other National banks, though these deposits are counted as reserve.

EUROPE.

LATEST BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Our advices from Europe by the cable are to yesterday. The Colonial Ministers in the British Cabinet have resigned, for reasons connected with the Reform question. The new Reform Bill was to be submitted to Parliament on the 11th instant. It was rumored at London that dispatches had been received there announcing that war had broken out in India.

HEAVY DEFAUCATION AT THE NATIONAL MECHANICS' BANK OF BALTIMORE.—The business community was startled on Saturday morning by rumors of a heavy defalcation in the National Mechanics' Bank of this city, situated on the corner of Calvert and Fayette streets. The amount was variously stated at some ranging between $50,000 and $200,000.

On Tuesday last, Mr. Callender, a Government inspector of national banks, arrived in this city and proceeded to make an examination of the condition of the different banks. While in the discharge of this duty at the Mechanics' Bank his attention was attracted by some entries in the books of Mr. Samuel H. Wentz, the general bookkeeper. Upon pursuing his investigations, it was discovered that for a period of about twenty-seven years Wentz had been abstracting large amounts, which in the aggregate foot up about $300,000. It is supposed that he was enabled to cover up his frauds and conceal them from the knowledge of the officers of the bank on their regular examinations of its condition through collusion with John H. Rogers, the paying teller. Both Wentz and Rogers were arrested on Saturday on warrants issued by Justice Hayward and released on $10,000 bail each. The highest penalty the Justice could exact. Upon being charged with the fraud Rogers asserted that he had taken only about $6,000 of the missing funds, but whether his statement is correct or not remains to be ascertained. Wentz has been in the employ of the bank upwards of thirty years, and Rogers nearly that period, being the two oldest officers in it and each has a large family. Mr. Callender, the inspector, who is quite an expert in his business, says that it was the most systematic and ingenious fraud he has ever developed. It is supposed the largest amount of abstracted funds in the history of the bank.
